About this Bird

Prairie Warblers are greenish-brown above and bright lemon-yellow below with black streaks on their sides. You can recognize the male by the unique yellow and black pattern on his face. The female has the same pattern though not as bright. They breed in forest edges in North America in summer and spend the rest of the year in the Caribbean. They live in mangroves, woodlands, gardens and orchards and feed on insects and spiders that they pick off leaves and branches or catch in flight. Prairie Warblers frequently wag their tails up and down. Bird Size 12 cm, 4.75 in.
