

~ CARIBBEAN ~ Bird Migration

An Incredible Journey!

World Travelers Each fall, billions of birds flee the cold north, taking flight for warmer places and plentiful food, returning in spring to nest. Some spend up to 9 months in the Caribbean, others stop-over to rest and refuel during their long journeys.

Incredible Navigators Many have winter and summer homes and find their way back to the same spots each year.

Champion Fliers Some birds fly huge distances: Whimbrels may fly an astonishing round-trip of 21,000 km each year.

Innocent Victims Many are killed by storms, tall buildings, hunters, and habitat loss.

You Can Help Plant native trees, set up bird baths and feeders, protect forests and wetlands.

Know them. Love them. Protect them.

LEARN MORE AT:
scscb.org, BirdDay.org, AllAboutBirds.org

WATCH BIRDS AND RECORD WHAT YOU SEE:
ebird.org/content/Caribbean

