

Sanderling Adaptation Match

Although small and adorable, the Sanderling is well adapted for life in open habitats such as beaches. Look at the individual body parts (red dots) of the Sanderling below and try to match them with their functions.

For wading and stability

Probing for hidden prey

Protection from predators

Energy for long distance flight