

General Guidelines for BirdsCaribbean's Research and Conservation Grants

Important Note: These are general guidelines for applications to all BirdsCaribbean's Grants for Research and Conservation. Please consult individual program websites for details on specific focus, permissible uses of funds and eligibility of applicants.

Eligibility/Favored Projects

- BirdsCaribbean is an international network that promotes the conservation of birds and their habitats in the insular Caribbean. The grants will support projects proposed by partners working in the islands within or on the edge of the Caribbean basin (i.e., Greater Antilles and Lesser Antilles), including The Bahamas and Bermuda.
- Applicants must be paid or sponsored members of BirdsCaribbean at the time of application.
- The same proposal cannot be submitted for more than one award in a given year.
- Projects with the following qualities will be favoured:
 - Conducted by Caribbean nationals and organizations headquartered in the Caribbean
 - Expenditures are primarily made within the Caribbean
 - Benefit rare, endemic, resident and/or threatened Caribbean bird species
 - Foster collaboration among scientists/naturalists of different local groups or organizations

Evaluation

A committee appointed by BirdsCaribbean will review the proposals and award the grants. Applications will be judged on the merit of the proposed work plan and expected contribution to the knowledge and conservation of Caribbean bird species.

Deliverables

1. Awardees will be required to submit a report one year from the project start date, which will be defined in the award letter, explaining how the award money was spent and the results of the project to that point. Two-year projects require a second annual report.
2. The awardee will be also asked to write an article for BirdsCaribbean's blog about their work (informal article for a lay audience).
3. Awardees are encouraged to present the results of their work at the biennial International Conference of BirdsCaribbean and publish in the Journal of Caribbean Ornithology.

Proposal Instructions

Use the BirdsCaribbean Grant Proposal Submission 2023 form to submit the cover information and upload files.

Narrative & Budget Instructions

Note the word limits to sections. Supporting elements including the budget table, references, maps and figures do not count against word totals. Please submit narrative and budget as a single Word or pdf file.

Introduction: 500 words. Provide relevant background information to the conservation issue or research question; what is the conservation target, threats and sources of threats? Include any preliminary activities or data that inform your project. Why is this project necessary and how will it advance research or conservation? What are the objectives for the project? How is the project different from previous work?

Please make sure to describe how the project addresses the specific intent for the Fund to which you are applying.

Methods/Activities: 1000 words. How will you implement the project? How will you monitor progress and success? Please describe the major activities you foresee undertaking to implement your project, along with a timeline and milestones that will mark their completion.

Expected Results and Outcomes: 500 words. What are your expected results and how will they advance the scientific knowledge or conservation of the target species? How do you anticipate sharing and publishing your results in order to advance science and conservation locally and regionally?

Permissions/Stakeholders: 500 words. Identify stakeholders who must be considered. Describe the site(s), materials, permits, etc. that will be necessary for the work. Explain how you are reaching out to the local community, NGOs, and relevant government agencies/ institutions to make sure your work meshes with local conservation goals.

Budget Table: One table with notes. Describe the budget items necessary to complete the work in USD. Include items from other sources and explain how the costs covered by the grant will add to the project. Include in-kind contributions including volunteers' transportation and time, if any. If other applications have been submitted for the same costs, include them here along with notification deadlines. Applicants are encouraged to submit proposals to multiple funding agencies, however they may not accept more than one funding award for the same budget item.

Note specific restrictions for uses of funds.

Other: 100 words. What else would you like us to know that will help us to evaluate your proposal?

Other Required Files
