

2023, A BIRD'S EYE VIEW

HIGHLIGHTS MADE POSSIBLE BY GENEROUS FRIENDS LIKE YOU!

300,000+

pairs of breeding seabirds surveyed at over 58 sites in the first-ever Caribbean-wide Seabird Census!

MASKED BOOBY ADULT AND CHICK
Ann Sutton

90 Caribbean nationals from 20 islands

received training and resources via our Caribbean Landbird Monitoring, Caribbean Bird Banding, Caribbean Seabird, and Caribbean Birding Trail programs.

10 innovative projects awarded grant funding

We are learning so much about the region's understudied birds and habitats!

3 new Motus Stations

in Jamaica and The Bahamas are helping our migratory birds. We were excited to detect Red Knots in Puerto Rico, Barbados, and St. Martin—letting us know how this Near Threatened species uses the Caribbean islands on their epic migrations and how we can best protect them!

RED KNOT | Hemant Kishan

11 Caribbean Landbird Monitoring projects launched in 9 countries through our Grant funding!

24 New Bird Guides Trained in the Turks and Caicos Islands via our Caribbean Birding Trail program strengthening sustainable tourism in the region!

PIPING PLOVERS | Craig Watson

Caribbean Waterbird Census (CWC) + Plovers Aplenty!

Our annual CWC featured a special Caribbean-wide Piping Plover Survey! Our sightings of this Near Threatened species included a flock of over 100 birds on North Andros in The Bahamas.

Caribbean Endemic Bird Festival (CEBF)

Now in its 21st year, we successfully celebrated CEBF—the largest celebration of regional biodiversity in the Caribbean. Over 10,000 persons participated from The Bahamas down to Trinidad & Tobago. The islands were teeming with birdwatching trips; habitat cleanups and restorations; discussions about addressing threats to our birds; and events welcoming new birders to our community.

HISPANIOLAN TROGON
Jose M. Pantaleon

..And because of your support for bird education and the formation of birding clubs in Cuba to combat the illegal bird trade, on-the-ground campaigns are now being run by our partners in all 15 provinces of Cuba.
